Covid Awareness campaign by sticking posters in Public spaces

On 18th of August, the NSS volunteers of Providence Women's College made educational and information posters on ways to help prevent the Covid-19 virus from spreading. The informations and importance of keeping social distancing, washing hands, wearing mask and hashtag from government's campaign break the chain were also included in the posters. NSS volunteers followed all the Covid-19 protocols and pasted posters in public areas, on walls of shops, supermarkets, bustops and everywhere where there was a chance of people gathering to reinforce health practices and elevate awareness in our physical spaces. We displayed posters and covered the area from malappuram to NGO quarters. As a part of Covid awareness programme conducted by the NSS units of our college, the posters designed by the students were posted in the public walls and bus stops for conscientizing the public.
