Report on Workshop cum Exhibition on “Sericulture and Silkmark”

Date: 24 February 2024

Organized by: Department of Zoology

Number of participants: 95

On February 24, 2024, the Department of Zoology successfully conducted a workshop cum exhibition titled “Sericulture and Silkmark.” The event was led by Mr. P.C. Johny, an esteemed officer of the Central Silk Board, Palakkad. The program aimed to educate participants about the science and art of sericulture, the significance of silk production, and the Silkmark certification, which ensures the authenticity of silk products.

Objectives of the Workshop:

- To provide an understanding of the sericulture process, including the lifecycle of silkworms, silk production techniques, and quality assurance.
- To raise awareness about the economic and ecological importance of sericulture as a sustainable agricultural practice.
- To promote the Silkmark initiative for identifying genuine silk products and supporting the silk industry.

Key Highlights:

1. Expert Lecture:

Mr. P.C. Johny delivered an insightful lecture on the sericulture industry in India. He elaborated on the stages of silk production, from mulberry cultivation to silk weaving, and emphasized the role of sericulture in rural development and employment generation.

2. Demonstrations and Exhibition:

- Live demonstrations showcased silkworm-rearing techniques and mulberry leaf preparation.
- An exhibition displayed various silk products, highlighting the significance of the Silkmark certification as a guarantee of quality.
- Visitors were allowed to interact with experts and learn about the intricacies of silk testing and grading.

3. Interactive Session:

The audience actively participated in a Q&A session, where Mr. Johny addressed queries about starting sericulture ventures, government schemes, and the global market for Indian silk.

Outcomes of the Program:

- Participants gained hands-on knowledge about sericulture and silk production techniques.

- Awareness was created about the importance of Silkmark certification in promoting ethical and genuine silk products.
- The workshop inspired students and local farmers to explore sericulture as a potential livelihood.

Conclusion:

The workshop cum exhibition on “Sericulture and Silkmark” was a resounding success, fulfilling its objectives of education, awareness, and inspiration. The Department of Zoology extends its gratitude to Mr. P.C. Johny and the Central Silk Board for their invaluable contribution to the program.
