REPORT

On 10th August, the Department of computer science in association with Bluegen conducted a workshop on python Django. The session was held in the computer science lab at 1.30pm and around 45 students from 3rd year BSc and 1st year PG took part in python Django workshop. It was such a beneficial workshop for students as they gained a lot of information, pros and cons of the topic. The team helped the students to explore the area of python Django in a short period of time.
