

Literarum Carmina:

Views in Art, Literature and Culture

Edited by

SARAN S

Contents

Foreword	v
Editor	ix
List Of Contributors	xi
1. Cultural Imperialism: A Psychoanalytical Reading Of I Purple Hibiscus
2. Politics Of Identity Construction In Vijay Tendulkar's 10 Silence! The Court Is In Session
3. Patriarchy And Culture: Social Representation Of 23 Gender In Neeraj Ghaywan's Shortfilm Juice
4. Pleasure, Monotony And Visuality: Netflix In The 43 Age Of Society Of Control
5. 'silencing The Sabaltem': A Comparative Analysis 62 Of The Distinct Representations Of Dalit Politics In "article 15" And "pariyerum Perumal"
6. Double Oppression Of Igbo Women In Chimamanda 76 Ngozi Adichie's "half Of A Yellow Sun"
7. Media Ethics And Advertisement 83
8. The Interminable Impression Of Nature On Man: An 97 Eco-critical Reading Of Amitav Ghosh's "the Hungry Tide"
9. Postmodern Theory Applied In Kurt Vonnegut's 109 "slaughterhouse- Five"
10. Discrimination Of Women In Girish Karnad's Plays 119
11. Black Panther: White Imagination In A Black Cast 130

III

Patriarchy and Culture: Social Representation of Gender in Neeraj Ghaywan's Shortfilm Juice

Dr. Prathibha P.

Assistant Professor, Centre for Research
Department of English Providence Women's College
University of Calicut, Kerala.

Abstract

In the millennial era, short films have emerged as an easily accessible and influential medium of representation. They present socially significant themes and hold a mirror

Language is the mirror of human life which delineates the life of human. Language speaks man's personality. It is the cosmic medium like imparting the common information society.

English and ICT have become essential tools for a number of non-datum and emotions of everyday life. English language has become a global language because of its numerous functions and preferences over several other languages over the globe. English has become the window to the world. In every aspect of human life, Science, Information, Technology is playing a vital role. Even in the field of education the technological developments have started a new page.

Traditional methods of teaching are not showing great impact on the learners. Technology has become a tool for making the learners innovative and also became a source for motivating the learners towards learning. This book is concern with Agriculture and Eco-critical Studies, Media Literacy and Identity, Digital Humanities, Media Ethics, Communication for Development, Governance and Policy Making, Post-Covid Digital Era, Psychoanalysis and psychology, Feminism and New-Feminism, Film Theory, ICT and ELT and Cultural Studies.

Edited by

Saran S

NOTION PRESS

Price Rs 750.00
ISBN 978-1-63850-098-8

9 781638 500988