Activity :plastic eradication drive

Number of students participated : 28

A plastic eradication drive was organized by the Department of Botany during July to September 2017, to create awareness on the proper use and recycling of plastic materials. Hazards to the environment created through the use and throw of plastic carry bags were explained through various activities. 28 students participated in the programme. Waste bins to collect plastic materials were placed at certain places in the campus. The collected wastes were sent to recycling plants. The activity was conducted during the initial periods in the academic year, just after the arrival of the new batch of students.
